FACULTY OF NURSING

Founded in 2000, the Faculty of Nursing at Naresuan University is the first of its kind in the lower northern part of Thailand under the auspices of the Ministry of Education. Our faculty is recognized not only at the regional level but also as a leader in the national arena being accredited at the highest rating by the National Council of Nursing and the Office for National Education Standards and Quality Assessment (Public Organization). Consequently, a special budget is allotted incrementally year after year to support large numbers of professional nursing graduates from the Ministry of Public Health.

The mission of the Faculty is to be a recognised leader in nursing education at undergraduate and graduate levels. In pursuance of this vision, the faculty promotes scholarly acquisition, transmission, and application through a student-centered approach. A learning environment in which professional ethics are nurtured while theory-based practices are fostered is prevalent. Exclusive dormitories are provided with superior safety measures.

To increase research and educational programs that satisfy the needs of the community and health professionals, recruitment of teaching staff of demonstrable excellence is encouraged in all nursing specialties. Our nursing laboratory is considered one of the best with cutting-edge facilities, accessible to all faculty and students.

Our graduates are sought after, as highly satisfactory in performance as they are rapidly promoted to leadership positions both in the private and the public sectors.

Academic and research quality is assured through international collaborations with reputable universities abroad, such as Florida Atlantic University, the University of Texas Pan American, and Kent University in the USA; the University of Canberra, Australia; the University of the Philippines and St. Paul University in the Philippines; and Thai Nguyen University in Vietnam. Additionally, partnerships established with hospitals all over the region enable authentic professional training of our students at teaching hospitals.
